Dr. No-Yong Park, Authority on Far East, to Address Dinner Club Oct. 21

The first meeting of the fall and winter series by the Southern Illinois Dinner Club will be held at the Kurto country club Thursday evening, Oct. 21. Dr. No-Yong Park, Ph. D. of Harvard and Manchurian-born authority on the Far East, will be the guest speaker.

The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. and advance reservations must be made with the club secretary, Rees Turner, at the Turner funeral home.

For years Dr. Park has been considered one of the leading speakers in the United States on the Far East. Author of a half dozen books, he is especially proud of the fact that he has never been befuddled by the pro-Communist propaganda which has flooded this country for the past dozen years.

From the very first, Dr. Park has been wise as to what has been going on. When so many speakers (most of whom should have known better) were falling all over each other in their effort to "butter up" Stalin and his Asiatic bandits, Dr. Park refused to be stampeded by the abortive drive and stuck gamely to his guns in spite of the fact that for years he was the target for every foul attack the bright boys from the Kremlin could think up.

Few men know East Asia as well as he does and none know it any better. He is an excellent writer and a forceful speaker. He tells his audiences exactly what he believes and why he believes it. He is a shrewd and honest observer of current events.

J. C. Harris, Retired NYC Employee, Dies

J. C. Harris, known to his friends as "Uncle Joe," a life long resident of Saline county, died Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at his home, 312A East Poplar, following an illness of eight months.

He was a retired employee of the New York Central Railroad.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth; three daughters, Mrs. Frank (Irene) Maynard, Mrs. John (Marie) Hutton and Mrs. Nova Hawk, all of Harrisburg; one son, Gerald, of Norfolk, Va.; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

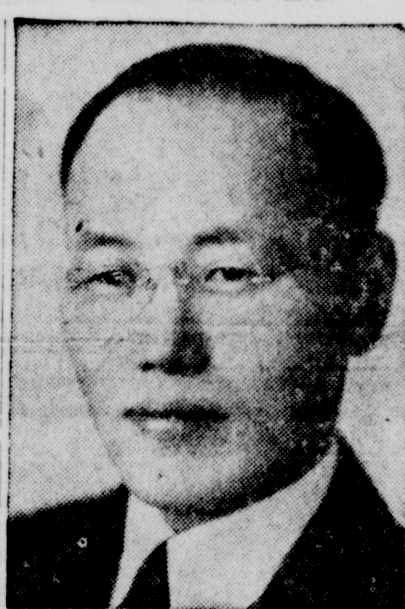

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home. Rev. Joe Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church where he was a member, will conduct the service and burial will be in the Masonic cemetery in Raleigh.

Mrs. John H. Johnson, 75, Former Resident of Galatia Community, Dies

Mrs. Laura Johnson, 75, widow of the late John Henry Johnson of Galatia community, died at 7 a. m. today at the home of her son, Clifford Johnson, in Peoria.

The body will be returned to the Courtney funeral home in Galatia where it will lie in state. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. at the Hebron church west of Walpole. Rev. John Bean, pastor of the church, will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

She is survived by the following children: Clifford, Tom and Vernon Johnson of Peoria, Dan Johnson, Raymond, Ill., Ed Johnson of Springfield, Mrs. Lloyd Gill, New Haven and Mrs. Eunice Anderson, Oak Park.

Nerve Gas to Be Produced in New Army Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nerve gas ammunition will be produced at a new ordnance plant the Army is planning to build in Denver, Colo., informed sources said today.

Nerve gases already are being produced at the Chemical Corps' Rocky Mountain arsenal. But the new plant is believed to be the first specifically designed for turning out nerve gas ammunition in a "deliverable" form such as shells and bombs.

The new eight million dollar plant, to be located at the Rocky Mountain arsenal, is expected to be ready in 15 months. The Army announced plans for its construction in a terse announcement late Wednesday.

It said the plant would be used to "provide facilities for assembling and packaging chemical-type ammunition" but otherwise refused to shed any light on the purposes of the project.

Informed sources linked it with nerve gas, however. They noted that the plant is located at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal and that the only chemical-type ammunition produced there is believed to be nerve gas which paralyzes and kills in a matter of minutes.

Army approval of the new plant was a strong indication that nerve gas development and production at Rocky Mountain has expanded to the point where additional ammunition producing facilities are needed. The arsenal itself has a limited capacity to turn out shells filled with the lethal gases.

Sister of Mrs. Charles Tucker Dies

Mrs. Hettie Lowery Kahle, 77, sister of Mrs. Charles Tucker, 500 West Church in Harrisburg, died Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the home of another sister, Mrs. Dora Metzger, in Paducah, Ky.

Mrs. Kahle is a former resident of White county.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Old Village church east of Norris City. The body is now at the Rauth funeral home in Paducah and it will be taken directly to the church Friday at 1 p. m.

Homecoming Activities Will Begin Tonight

To Announce HTS Queen at Bonfire and Pep Meeting

The 1954 HTS Homecoming activities get under way tonight with a bonfire and pep meeting at Taylor Field, followed by the parade tomorrow afternoon, the football game Friday night and the coronation ceremony in Bonnell gym following the grid contest.

The pep meeting and bonfire will start at 7 p. m. and the highlight of this event will be the announcement of the name of the Homecoming Queen. There will be several presentations to the group on hand, including the football coaches and players.

The Homecoming parade will begin forming at Jackson and Lincoln at 3:30 p. m. Friday and make its way uptown. It will move on to Taylor Field.

WSIL-TV to Televis Homecoming Parade

The Harrisburg Township high school Homecoming parade will be televised starting at 4 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced today by WSIL-TV.

WSIL will mount its studio camera on a platform at the curb in front of the studios on West Poplar street and will show the parade to its viewers as the procession moves westward on Poplar.

Bob Walker of the studio staff will describe the parade.

Church to Main and on Main to Poplar, then around the square and west on Poplar to McKinley. Prizes will be awarded both school and alumni and civic group winners.

Powerful Centralia is the foe for the football game to be held at Taylor Field at 7:30 p. m. Friday. At halftime there will be a ceremony at which the queen and the queen candidates, riding in open convertibles, will be presented to the crowd by John Schork, master of ceremonies. Following the game the queen will be crowned in the coronation ceremony to be held during the annual Homecoming dance in Bonnell gym.

The Homecoming Queen will be selected by the football players from among the following candidates:

Miss Nigel Jenkins, Miss Norma Lee Simpson, Miss Wanda Smith and Miss Carolyn Herron, all members of the senior class. Attendees will be Miss Jane Lasersohn, Miss Pat Hodson and Miss Patsy Schwartz.

Sec'y Wilson Apologizes for Bird Dog Remark

Rift Appears Healed as Stratton Introduces Speaker

CHICAGO (AP)—A public rift between Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Illinois Gov. William Stratton appeared healed today in the wake of Wilson's apology for "bringing up those bird dogs."

The Republican governor introduced Wilson at a $100-a-plate Republican rally Wednesday night, despite his earlier suggestion that Wilson cancel his speech.

Wilson told an audience of 1,500 "I am sorry I made inept remarks" while talking about unemployment.

"I admit that I made a mistake—an unfortunate mistake—bringing up those bird dogs at the same time I was talking about people," Wilson said.

He then accused "our left wing opponents" of "hitting below the belt" by "deliberate misrepresentation" of his famed remark about bird dogs and Kennel dogs at a news conference in Detroit, Mich., Monday.

Expresses Sympathy

Wilson told the news conference he had "a lot of sympathy" for unemployed workers, but still "liked bird dogs better than kennel dogs" because a bird dog "gets out and hunts for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Stratton said after the speech he thought "the secretary did a fine job clearing up any misunderstanding."

However, he did not say whether he still stood by an earlier statement that called Wilson's "bird dog" remark "unfortunate" and said Wilson was not in a position to represent the administration's views at the Chicago rally.

Wilson commented Wednesday night "even some Republicans, including your illustrious governor, were disturbed by some incomplete press reports of some recent remarks I made in Detroit."

Stratton had already praised Wilson in a brief introduction as a man "big enough to fight against misunderstanding and partisan attack when he believes himself doing his best for his country."

Wilson returned the compliment in his speech by lauding Stratton's administration.

Apologizes for Remarks

The defense secretary lost no time in apologizing for his "bird dog" remark and attacking the "vicious interpretation" that was placed on it.

"There are times when my remarks get me into trouble—I think my mind is too simple and too straight—especially in political matters, and I seem to be in trouble now," he said.

"The way my remarks were distorted by our left wing opponents certainly look terrible in print. I admit that."

"So right here, right now, I want to say to the American people that I am sorry I made inept remarks which were subject to misinterpretation."

Three Indicted for Refusing to Answer Questions by McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—Columbia University instructor Corliss Lamont and two others were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of contempt of the United States Senate for refusing to answer questions of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Indicted with Lamont were Atty. Abraham Unger and Albert Shadowitz, a former employee of the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories at Nutley, N. J., an affiliate of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The three were questioned by McCarthy in separate sessions of the Senate Investigations subcommittee last year during inquiries into alleged Red infiltration of the Army Signal Corps and the United Nations.

Lamont was named in 23 counts charging contempt for refusal to answer 23 questions regarding his possible Communist connections during a period when he wrote material subsequently used for Army instruction.

He refused to reply on the ground that the subcommittee had no right to inquire into the political beliefs of a private citizen who at no time had been employed by the federal government.

Unger, who was one of the defense attorneys for the 11 top U. S. Communist leaders first convicted on Smith Act charges in 1949 and also for 13 Puerto Rican Nationalists who were this week convicted of seditious conspiracy, pleaded the free speech and thought provisions of the 1st Amendment in refusing to answer McCarthy's questions about his alleged Communist affiliations.

Shadowitz also claimed the exemption of the 1st Amendment in refusing, during public hearings on the Army Signal Corps, to answer 12 questions regarding possible Communist connections and activities during his employment on Signal Corps work at the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories.

Re-elected Grand secretary, a post he has held for many years, was R. C. Davenport of this city. Mr. Davenport is a Past Grand master of the Illinois Grand lodge.

Reappointed to Grand lodge positions were Paul Spangler to the Board of Grand Examiners, E. Bishop Hill to the Committee on Credentials, George Anderson to the Committee on Appeals and Grievances, Everett Stricklin as District Deputy Grand master, and William Biggers as deputy Grand secretary.

Also, Harrisburg was selected as one of the six sites in Illinois for Grand lodge schools of instruction in 1955.

Grand officers were re-elected for the coming year except for the office of Grand treasurer.

Re-elected were Carroll T. Hughes of Jacksonville, Grand master; Milton T. Sonntag of Plainfield, deputy Grand master; Harold R. Koptman of Chicago, senior Grand warden; Paul R. Stephens of Rushville, junior Grand warden; and R. C. Davenport of Harrisburg, Grand secretary.

James Green of Chicago, a past Grand master, was elected Grand treasurer to succeed the late Arthur I. Peters.

Harold O. Ross of Mt. Morris was named chairman of the Board of Grand Examiners to succeed Clarence P. Schwartz of Chicago, who retired. Other members are Stafford Light, secretary, William L. Mason, Paul Spangler and a new member, Myron K. Lingle of Springfield.

The state schools were scheduled as follows: Harrisburg Jan. 31-Feb. 1; Mattoon Feb. 28-March 1; Jacksonville March 14-15; Ottawa March 28-29; Chicago April 14, 15 and 16 and at Rockford May 2 and 3.

Grand Master Hughes will be in Harrisburg Nov. 10 for the annual Past Master's Night and Past Grand Master's Night of Harrisburg Lodge No. 325, it was announced.

Besides local Grand officers and committee members, James Stricklin, master of Harrisburg lodge, also attended the convention.

Palbearers will be Robert Wilson, Floyd Butler, G. E. Crest, John Endsley, Harry Ristich and Owen Hunsinger.

The body was taken from the Harrisburg funeral home to the home of the son, George Myers, last evening.

Gets Life Term For Murder of W. Frankfort Cop

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—Elic Morgan Easter, 42, was taken to Menard State Penitentiary at Chester today to start a 99-year sentence for the murder of James J. Paulk, 40, a West Frankfort policeman.

Easter, an ex-convict from East St. Louis, was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Taswell J. Crebs in Franklin County Court on a plea of guilty.

Easter testified he was drunk the night Paulk was shot as he stepped from a police car to question occupants of a taxicab north of West Frankfort.

A Franklin county grand jury had also indicted Easter for the kidnapping and robbery of James Dailey, 21, Benton, the driver of the cab.

Steak Dinner for Eisenhower's 64th Birthday

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower, in glowing good health celebrates his 64th birthday tonight at a small steak dinner with his family and close friends.

Mrs. Eisenhower told the chef at the Brown Palace Hotel to bake a small cake, adorned with a single candle, for the presidential dinner party. Sixteen persons, including Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, will toast the President while he savors a charcoal broiled steak.

A hotel spokesman said "nothing pretentious has been planned." But stacks of cakes, books and other birthday gifts for the President deluged the Denver White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower kept secret the gift she would give her husband for his 64th birthday.

The President scheduled only one appointment at his executive office on Lowry Air Force Base today. But he planned to put in a full day of work on his birthday, most of it devoted to polishing the text of his farm policy speech to be delivered Friday at Indianapolis.

Mr. Eisenhower is winding up an eight-week Colorado vacation that provided only one week of real rest.

The President's birthday party will be one of his final activities in Denver. Friday he will fly with most of his White House staff to Indianapolis. His farm address will be delivered at 9 p. m. EST at the Butler University Fieldhouse. Immediately afterward the chief executive will fly to Washington.

Expected to Hit in Vicinity Of Cape Hatteras

Gigantic Storm Is Picking Up Its Forward Speed

MIAMI (AP)—A mighty Atlantic hurricane, after smacking Haiti a devastating blow, roared in the direction of the U. S. mainland today powered by winds of 130 miles an hour.

The hurricane was expected to hit in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras, N. C. tonight. The gigantic storm was picking up forward speed and was hitting 23 miles an hour at mid-morning. This speed was expected to reach 30 to 35 miles an hour during the day.

The North Carolina Capes went on hurricane alert at 11 a. m. and northeast storm warnings were flown from Charleston, S. C., to the Virginia Capes.

The storm, which was thought at one point to have had the steam knocked out by its blow at Haiti, roared back with winds that hit 130 miles an hour over a small area near the center.

Advances 23 Miles Per Hour

Hurricane Hazel, the eighth tropical storm of the year, still was 400 miles southeast of the U. S. mainland but its forward speed had accelerated from eight miles an hour two days ago to 23 miles an hour, according to the late morning weather advisory.

The 11 a. m. Weather Bureau advisory located the storm about 200 miles east of Palm Beach, Fla., moving north-northwest at 23 miles an hour.

The storm, after traveling in a west-northwest direction for days, started changing its course suddenly Oct. 9, veering sharply to the north-northeast and rolling across the western tip of Haiti with tragic results.

Efforts still were being made today to assess the casualty reports from Haiti, which were expected to be in the hundreds. Roads and bridges were washed out.

Gales Extend 175 Miles

Although highest winds were concentrated over a small area near the center, hurricane force winds at least 75 miles a hour extended outward 80 miles in northern and 40 miles in the southern semi-circles.

Gales extended about 175 miles to the north and east and 75 miles to the south and west.

As the season's eighth tropical storm churned to the east of the Bahamas, which escaped Hazel's fury, efforts were made to reach destitute and suffering towns of Haiti that were cut off by the storm.

The Plight of The Hospitals

Editorial by LEONARD RUPPERT
Though a person who's just paid
a hospital bill may find it hard to believe, the average American medical plant is badly in need of money.

The chronic problem of rising costs—for the patients and hospitals both—is reaching the danger point. Unless we can find a solution, the price of adequate medical care may soon be beyond the reach of tens of millions of families.

Last year's general hospital patient was socked with an average bill of $19 a day. But the daily costs to the institution were closer to $21. The average net loss, specifically, was $1.58 per patient.
That hospitals run at a loss is something we've come to expect.
But many are slipping so far in the red that funds from their regular charity sources no longer can cover the deficit. Their vital supply of working capital has fallen critically low.

Making the problem acute is the fact that demands on our medical plant are constantly growing larger. Compared to 20 years ago,
annual new admissions have almost tripled in number. And with every new admission, of course, the average loss per patient is automatically multiplied.

The hospitals' rise in expenses has several basic causes, with the most important of all being snow-balling costs of labor. Due to new medical methods which call for intensive care, they have needed additional workers. And to meet competition from industry, they have had to keep raising pay scales
in order to hold onto their personnel.

Some are trying to offset the rise by using various cost-cutting moves which have worked for private industry, such as better communications systems. There seems to be general agreement, however,
that adequate general hospital
plants cannot be run on assembly-line methods. And the savings, at most, have been minor.

The rise in cost to the public has so far been largely obscured by the growth of prepaid insurance plans. But as hospital fees get steadily larger, so will the size of the premiums. It is already happening now. A Blue Cross official from Michigan recently told the American Hospital Association that the cost of prepaid hospital care is presently out of the reach of one out of every four families.

The problem is bound to get worse. As our national population shows a greater proportion of old folk (a very definite trend), demands for additional hospital care
will continue to show an increase.
And most of the nation's hospital men predict that the upswing in costs will be with us for many years.

Somehow the trend must be stopped. Some suggest that the government do it by stepping up federal grants so that losses of all general hospital plants will be au-tomatically covered. Others suggestly oppose this, claiming it surely would lead us to the evils of socialization.

Whatever the final answers, they cannot be long delayed. We have forced our nation's medical plant to plead for funds like a beggar for far too many years. Permitting this to continue clearly would be a mistake.

Predict Home Building Boom Will Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housing experts predicted today that the home construction boom will expand until it hits a rate of more than 1,500,000 family units a year in the 1960s.

This would be about 400,000 more
a year than are being built now in a post-war housing boom which is the biggest thing of its kind in any nation's history.

"With the kind of action that we can see should expect of industry under sound economic conditions, I believe next year's home building rate can be increased moderately to more than 1,200,000
units," Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole told the United Press.

"And when the record crop of war and postwar babies comes of age and begins setting up new households in the 1960s, home building levels should rise sharply to better than 1,500,000 units a year."

Other housing experts agree and base such predictions on several factors. The primary one: A growing population needing more housing and having the means of buying it.

The birth rate is continuing high
and the death rate is declining.
More people are living longer.

In the 1960s, the population growth will be particularly heavy in the 20 to 25 age bracket—the one in which the greatest number of persons marry and set up new homes.

Retirement plans and Social Security have enabled old persons to keep their own homes instead of putting them on the market and moving in with their children.

Spokesmen for the home construction industry expect establishment of new households to reach a rate of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 a year in the 1960s.

Some economists foresee a need for replacing at least 1,000,000 substandard houses a year for the next decade. Government estimates put the number of "dilatorious" houses occupied last year at 2,283,000. Such a house "does not provide adequate shelter or protection against the elements or it endangers the safety of the occupants," officials say.

A continued growth in personal income and a shift upward in the average family income, coupled with an increased inclination to spend, are expected to induce heads of families to buy more homes.

Larger Middle-Income Group
It is predicted that more families will move up into the middle-income group. And an accompanying greater confidence in their future will make them feel more free to take on mortgage obligations, it is believed.

The government probably will continue to back an "easy money" policy unless inflation should threaten to get out of hand. This and the liberalized housing law enacted last summer is expected to permit relatively easy financing of
as many new homes as there is sound demand for.

Although the full impact of the new housing law will not be felt until next year, applications to the Federal Housing Administration for insurance on home loans already has started to pick up. They totalled 53,580 last August, a record for that month and nearly twice the number in August, 1953.

Air conditioning shapes up as the main improvement to be expected in new homes in the next decade. An estimate 7 per cent of new homes built last year were air conditioned. This has risen to about 15 per cent this year.

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Justice Jackson Was Promised
Presidency By FDR; Missed Out As Chief Justice When Roosevelt Named Stone; Tammany Vetoed Jackson As New York Governor.

WASHINGTON — The only man who was definitely promised the presidency of the United States by Franklin Roosevelt, died in the apartment of his secretary the other day. He died a somewhat embittered man.

If the promise made to Justice
Robert H. Jackson had been carried out, the history of the United States might have been far different. In the first place, Roosevelt would have run for only two terms, not four. Second, our conduct of the war might have been different.
Finally, Thomas E. Dewey would not have been governor of New York today.

And it will be a paradoxical twist of fate if Dewey now takes the Supreme Court seat of the man who would have been governor of New York in his stead.

It was in May 1937 that FDR called in Bob Jackson, then a crusading young assistant attorney general, and said: "Bob, I want you to sit in this chair."

The plan to put him in that chair was carefully worked out. Jackson, whose home was in Jamestown, N. Y., was to be come governor of New York in 1938. From this springboard and with New York's strong delegation behind him, plus the personal backing of FDR, he was to be elected President in 1940.

JACKSON VS. MELLON

At that time was the most lustrous legal star in the New Deal crown. Also he was the least controversial. Chosen for the inconspicuous post of counsel of internal revenue, he had picked up the Andrew W. Mellon income-tax case where a Pittsburgh grand jury dropped it and waged a court battle against the former secretary of the treasury that ended with Mellon donating his paintings, plus the National Gallery of Art, to the nation's capital. After that, Jackson turned round and brought an antitrust action against Mellon's aluminum corporation.

Paradoxically, the Mellons became more liberal in later years,
while Jackson became more conservative. And as Bob Jackson died, the Mellon's aluminum company was sponsoring liberal commentator Edward R. Murrow while Dick Mellon was building the famed Golden Triangle for the city of Pittsburgh.

Bob Jackson was in on some of Roosevelt's most important economic strategy, such as the Holding Corporation Act, though he never felt the fusillade of big business opposition as did brain-trusters Ben Cohen and Tom Corcoran. Without opposition, he stepped from the Justice Department's tax division to the antitrust division to be solicitor general.

But when Roosevelt proposed him as governor of New York, he ran into his first road block—in the person of likable and at that time loyal Jim Farley. But Farley too wanted to be governor of New York. And when Ernest Cuneo, who was doing Jackson's New York City scouting, talked to Farley, Jim replied:

"I've just come from the President and he tells me he wants me to be governor."

JACKSON'S OPPOSITION
Behind Jim Farley and against Bob Jackson was the full weight of Tammany, also Ed Flynn, boss
of the Bronx, who, after Jackson's speech attacking monopolies, emitted a proverbial Bronx cheer. Exploded Flynn: "It's the worst amateur hour I've ever listened to."

And crusty old Cactus Jack Garner, then vice president of the United States, had this to say when he heard about plans for grooming Jackson. "We don't want any New Dealers heading the Democratic ticket in 1940."

So, as a compromise, Herbert Lehman ran again for governor of New York, to be succeeded later
by an up-and-coming young Republican named Dewey, then under 40. And Roosevelt, with warengulfed Europe in 1939, decided to break all American historical precedents and run for a third term.

Bob Jackson, then not embittered,
became attorney general, and,
in 1941, associate justice of the Supreme Court. Before taking the court appointment, however, he asked Roosevelt specifically if it would interfere with another pledge FDR had made him, that he would become chief justice of the United States. FDR reaffirmed that pledge.

Roosevelt had promised Jackson
the chief justiceship when plans to make him president fizzled, though later, when Charles Evans Hughes retired, Roosevelt yielded to friends and decided it was wiser to appoint Harlan Fiske Stone, Republican, an older man, as chief justice. The understanding was, however, that Jackson would succeed Stone.

SECOND DISAPPOINTMENT

Jackson was at Nuremberg, Germany, in charge of the American prosecution of Nazi war criminals when Chief Justice Stone died, and it was then that he began to get bitter. For Truman, not bound by FDR's pledges, appointed his old friend, Fred Vinson, not Jackson, as chief justice of the United States.

To Bob Jackson, who had taken the Nuremberg job not because he wanted to, but because he thought it his duty, this was the last straw.
And being human, he appeared to become slightly off balance. Other men in high places in wartime have done the same.

It was at this time that he fired the uncalculated denunciation at his colleague, Justice Hugo Black,
for sitting on a case in which Black's partner of 20 years ago,
Crampton Harris, was attorney.

The fact that Jackson criticized his colleague from across the Atlantic when he was in no position to follow Supreme Court proceedings, indicated to friends that something had happened. Some, of course, blamed Justice Felix Frankfurter, an enemy of Black's,
for needling Jackson.

But, from that time on, Justice
Jackson was never quite the same.
Bob Jackson's friends had known before. He was nervous and not in good health.

But what most people didn't realize is that twice Bob Jackson had been taken up on the mountain top and shown the two most important political awards possible
to give a man; and each time
those awards were snatched away.
Considering the frailty of all human beings, it is understandable that Bob Jackson at times was human.

McCarthy Hits Administration's Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph
R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today blasted the Eisenhower administration's
"inept, improper handling of the farm problem."

The Wisconsin Republican said
it has caused Republicans to "slip quite badly" in the congressional campaigns in farm areas.

McCarthy, interviewed by newsmen after leaving the U. S. Naval hospital following a week's treatment for sinus trouble, said he did not know whether the Republicans would "sneak through" in the November elections.

McCarthy said also that he is supporting "all Republican candidates with one exception"—Clifford P. Case, Republican candidate for senator in New Jersey.

McCarthy said he is not making any campaign speeches although he had received a "tremendous number" of requests for speeches.

16 HTHS Hi-Tri Girls Attend Oct. 9 Meeting at Salem

Sixteen members of the HTHS
Hi-Tri organization attended a conference held in Salem Saturday, Oct. 9, accompanied by Mrs.
Herman Dunn, Hi-Tri sponsor.

Four hundred girls were present at the conference coming from the larger high schools in southern Illinois; the Hi-Tri being an organization only in this part of the state.

The guest speaker for the conference was Dr. Grace Sloan Overton who spoke to the girls on
"What Are You Going to Do With the World Which Is Yours?" Mrs.
Overton also explained how the Hi-Tri was organized in Mt. Vernon, Ill., by the founder, Mrs. Cornelia Pierce. Mrs. Overton also spoke to HTHS students last year
during a general assembly program.

A memorial was also held during the conference in tribute to Mrs. Pierce as Hi-Tri founder who died last summer.

Free distribution of seeds and the collection of statistical information accounted for much of the money spent by the Department of Agriculture in its early years.

Nixon Predicts Wilson Remarks Will End Up 'Plus' for Republicans

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon predicted today that the "dog" remarks of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson will end up as a "plus" for the Republican party.

"I don't believe there has ever been a more distorted picture of a man's remarks," Nixon said of the Wilson uproar. "I don't blame the working press."

"It is a diversionary tactic of the 'dumbocrats' to take the minds of the people off the record of this administration which is the best this country has known in the past 25 years."

Wilson, in answering a question about unemployment at a press conference in Detroit Monday, added an offhand remark that he preferred bird dogs to Kennel-fed dogs.

Nixon said there were only 3 1/2 million unemployed now whereas "there were 10 million during the Roosevelt administration and 5 1/2 million during the Truman administration."

He said this administration is "doing its utmost to alleviate these conditions while building a solid prosperity."

Discussing the congressional campaign in which he is taking an active part, Nixon predicted the Republicans would hold the House and Senate.

Nixon came to Houston from Van Nuys, Calif., to address the National Association of Retail Druggists convention and was interviewed at the airport. A newsman asked him who said, "Who the hell did that?" at the end of a television speech in Van Nuys Wednesday night.

"It wasn't I who swore," Nixon said. "It was a technician, who knocked over a microphone."

A spokesman for Television Station KTTV, which telecast the speech, said there were so many telephone calls that two TV technicians had to be called off their jobs to answer them. Many callers thought it was Nixon who swore.

Carrier Mills Music Boosters to Meet Tonight; Plan Program

The first meeting of the new school year of the Carrier Mills high school Music Boosters is scheduled for 7:30 tonight, it has been announced by Mrs. Pat Steely.

CMCHS music director.

The Music Boosters, first organized last term for the promotion and encouragement of music in the schools, was termed a success in its initial year and did much to further the music program in the Carrier Mills high school, it is reported.

At tonight's business meeting a program and plan for the year will be adopted. Following the business, there will be entertainment and refreshments. The meeting will be held in the high school music room.

Officers of the Music Boosters—president, Oather Dunaway; vice president, Mrs. Harold Berns; secretary, James E. Reid; treasurer,

Mrs. Bill Henson; publicity, Mrs. Wayne Edwards.

Goldfish "Gas Device"

Even goldfish played a part in World War I. By placing them in water in which gas masks had been soaked, after an enemy attack, it was possible to determine what kind of gas had been used.

Basic research as well as variety trials in fruits are carried on by the Illinois Horticultural Experiment Station operated by the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois university at Carbondale.

The output per farm worker in southern Illinois is lower generally than it is for the rest of the state and much of the nation.—(SIU)

Keep Common Sense Gov't in Power: Meek

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Joseph T. Meek, Republican nominee for U. S. senator, appealed to voters today to keep the present "common sense" administration and not exchange it for the "dangerous doctrine of the super-state which my opponent preaches."

Meek spoke at Republican rallies here and in Iroquois County. He also flew to Chicago to speak at a State Chamber of Commerce meeting.

"The administration which President Eisenhower heads is the common sense administration of the Republican Party," Meek said.

"It has lifted controls from business and the individual," he continued. "It has thrown out Communists and Communist sympathizers, reduced government expenditures, cut taxes and restored confidence in government. It has brought peace to America."

"Don't exchange it," Meek said, "for the theoretical nonsense and the dangerous doctrine of the super-state which my opponent preaches."

Meek referred indirectly to Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson's "bird dog" remark about unemployment Wednesday night in a speech at Joliet.

"Everyone unemployed is entitled to sympathy and all the aid other individuals and his government within a proper sphere can give him," Meek said.

"Unemployment is a calamity for any man. It hurts him, his family and his nation," Meek added.

He said "there is no denying the fact that there are areas of concern in our economic picture... but there is a vast difference between the Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas promise and the Eisenhower effort to cure the unemployment problem."

Secretary Wilson Also Has Story About Birds

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson, whose bird dog story has become famous, also has a tale about birds. Wilson declined to comment on the bird dog story when he arrived at Midway Airport Wednesday night, but he told newsmen he had a story about birds.

"I think it's safe to talk about birds," Wilson said.

Two birds were separated on their way South for the winter, Wilson said. One bird got to the destination early. When the second bird arrived, its companion asked what had happened and got this reply:

"Well, I was flying high and I was flying low and all of a sudden I got caught in the dog-gonest badminton game you ever saw."

Miss Bess Pemberton Addresses Thespians

Miss Bess Pemberton, a former and well-known HTHS English teacher, spoke to the high school drama club, the Thespians, Oct. 6, on her experiences in dramatization.

Miss Pemberton told the Thespians how she had begun directing plays at the age of 16 and also about attending speech classes at SIU under the direction of Mr. Shryock. She then proceeded in directing the Thespian members in an old-time elocution lesson.

In closing, she related some of her experiences in getting dramatics started at the Eldorado Township high school. "The Lion and the Mouse" was one of the very successful plays she has directed in the past.

CHICAGO - An emergency call for volunteers went out at nearby Hammond, Ind., today as a small threatened to burst dikes along the swollen Little Calumet River.

The Hammond police department said 300 men answered the call in the early morning hours and joined National Guard troops on the dikes.

The new rains came as Chicago area communities were apparently winning their fight to recover from weekend floods.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said heavy showers were approaching Hammond and more driving rains struck west of Chicago, where flooding has also occurred.

The Little Calumet went over its banks earlier this week, forcing 1,000 persons from their homes. But National Guardsmen from Indiana and Illinois, aided by hundreds of volunteers, brought the river under control late Wednesday.

The swollen Yellow River drove 100 families from their homes near Plymouth, Ind., Wednesday and still covered lowlands at Bremen and Nappanee.

Knox and other parts of Starke County downstream braced for the crest of the rising river, which was not expected until Friday.

The Weather Bureau said the Chicago area, which had its own flood largely licked, escaped an isolated tornado system which threatened for about three hours to dump severe new thunderstorms on the city.

Churchill, Cabinet
Study Intervention
In Dock Strike

LONDON (AP) - Prime Minister Winston Churchill called an urgent Cabinet meeting today to consider government intervention in a Communist encouraged dock strike which threatened Britain's food supply and vital export trade.

Churchill asked for a special report on the strike of dockworkers in London's sprawling port and a walkout of thousands of London bus drivers and conductors.

The prime minister summoned his ministers to an afternoon meeting at 10 Downing St. as the dockworkers strike threatened to become nationwide.

The National Dock Labor Board announced that 129 vessels are tied up, unloaded at the great London docks, stretching up the historic Thames from Tilbury to Teddington. It said a total of 21,500 stevedores were out at midday - an increase of 300 since morning.

The wildcat busmen's strike spread today and threatened a total tie-up of the city's bus system.

Woman Dies on Train
En Route to Visit
Mother at Fairfield

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Mrs. Patricia Jean Jackson, 27, died Wednesday on a Frisco-Katy passenger train en route here.

Train officials said the woman collapsed after complaining of a headache and couldn't be aroused.

The woman, wife of an Air Force man stationed at Randolph Field, Tex., was on her way to visit her mother in Fairfield, Ill.

Presented Service
Pins at VA Hospital

Jerome Stevers, Harrisburg RFD 2, and John V. Murphy, Carrier Mills RFD 1, were presented service pins today by Dr. E. A. Welch, manager of the Veterans hospital, Marion. Thirty employees received a bronze pin in recognition of at least 10 years of Federal service.

Census Taking
First modern census was taken in Canada in 1666. Census taking was a function of the ancient governments of Egypt, Greece, and Rome, for taxation and military purposes.

Jury Recommends
Husband Be Held
For Wife's Murder

JONESBORO, Ill. (AP) - Mrs. Lillian Toler, 27, died of wounds inflicted by her husband Lawrence, 32, a Union County coroner's jury has ruled.

The jury included in its ruling Wednesday a recommendation that Toler be held without bail for grand jury action.

Mrs. Toler, who was expecting a third child, was killed by a shotgun blast last Saturday. Union County authorities said Toler admitted shooting his wife.

The slaying took place on the farm of Toler's father near Cobden. The father testified at the inquest that Toler told him "I had to do it. The Lord told me to."

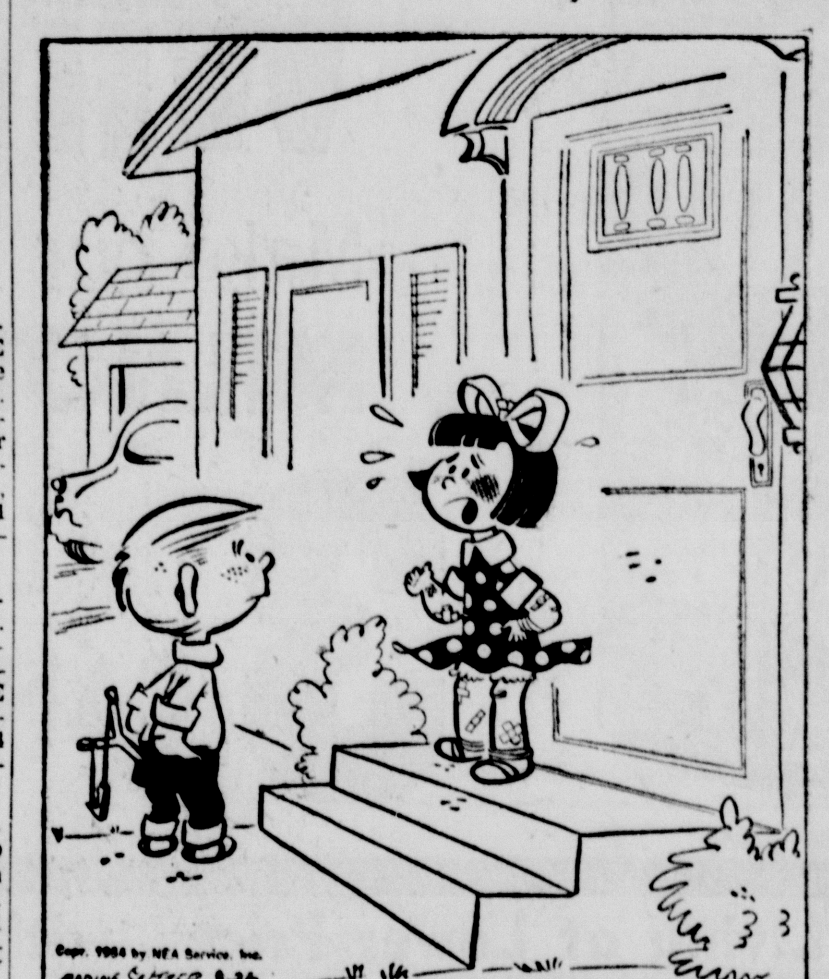

Toler had taken his father's shotgun, saying he intended to go squirrel hunting.

The couple's two children witnessed the shooting, and their screams brought Toler's father to the scene.

Toler is held in county jail here awaiting action of the November grand jury.

Cardinals Buy Four Players from Columbus Club

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, who finished sixth this year, today announced the purchase of four players from their Columbus club of the American Association in a move to bolster the parent club.

The Red Birds lost the services of right-handed pitcher Herb Moford and George Schultz, and infielders Bob Stephenson and Gerry Thomas.

Moford of Brooksville, Ky., had a won-loss record of 17-14 this season for his best year since entering the organization in 1947, while Schultz of Beverly, N. J., a reliever, appeared in 41 games for an 8-8 record.

Shortstop Stephenson of Blair, Okla., hit .232 this year and Thomas, a third base candidate batted .270.

Highway Deaths Decline in Area

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Highway fatalities in the 17 southern Illinois counties in District 13 of the Illinois state police dropped 25 per cent during the first three quarters of 1954.

State police reported 65 traffic deaths in the first nine months compared with 87 in the same period last year.

Five fatalities were reported last month, four less than August and two less than September, 1953.

Johnson County, with two traffic deaths, was the only District 13 county with more than one fatality last month.

Asked which of all the teams he developed he most enjoyed coaching, the late Glenn S. Warner promptly named Carlisle.
"Better than Cornell, Pittsburgh, Stanford or any other?" he was asked.

"Yes," Pop Warner replied. "When Indians were graduated from Carlisle, they didn't join any alumni association. "They just went back to the reservation."

France Proposes Arms Pool for French And German Armies

PARIS (AP)—France today proposed that weapons for both France and a rearmend West Germany be turned out by the same plants when the Germans are put back into uniform.

The plan was put forward as a trial balloon in advance of next week's top-level conferences at which the Western powers will work out the detailed arrangements for Germany rearmament.

The French scheme would be to create a common arms pool from the products of the same factories for the French and German armies.

This would be in line with Premier Pierre Mendes-France's desires to keep the tightest possible reins on a rearmend Germany.

Records Show Indians Were Phony Favorites

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A casual look at the final unofficial baseball averages today proved that the Cleveland Indians were the "phony favorites" ever to play in the World Series, and that the odds-makers were dead wrong in making them such heavy choices.

The Indians, playing in what now has been established to be a definitely sub-par year for the American league, might well be compared to the 1947 New York Giants who set an all-time major league home run record with 221, yet finished fourth. They were ponderous and slow.

Playing in a park with a big outfield area usually means a team can lay out a heavy supply of extra base hits. Yet Cleveland's slow runners were last in the league in triples with only 39 and ranked fifth in doubles with 187.

Cleveland's great pitching, admittedly the club's finest feature, saved it in game after game even when the Indians failed to wind up as the league's top run-making club.

The Yankees totaled 865 runs in 153 games, tops for both major leagues and an average of 5.39 per game. Cleveland scored 746 runs in 156 games, an average of 4.78. Both the St. Louis Cardinals with 799 runs and Brooklyn Dodgers with 778 in the National league also outscored the Indians.

The Indians were fifth best in the American league at making the double play. They had only 148 for their 156-game schedule. The Yankees were tops with 197. Washington second with 171.

The Indians were tops in homers with 156, and also delivered many of the round-trippers with men on base to drive in 712 runs. However, on that score they also trailed the Yankees, who had 742.

On the base paths, the Indians stole only 30 bases for the season compared with 92 for the White Sox.

Supreme Court Agrees to Rule On Sedition Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to rule on the Steve Nelson sedition case, which tests the validity of many state sedition laws.

Nelson, a Pittsburgh Communist, was convicted in January, 1952, of violating Pennsylvania's 1919 sedition statute by attempting the violent overthrow of the U. S. government. The State Supreme Court reversed the conviction on grounds that only federal law applies to such an offense.

The high court invited the Justice Department to file a brief setting forth the views of the government.

Attorneys general of 27 states joined Pennsylvania in urging the high court to uphold the state laws. One of them was Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire, where the state Supreme Court in April of this year decided that New Hampshire's sedition statute is valid.

Nelson, a former Western Pennsylvania Communist Party chairman, also was convicted under the Smith Act and sentenced to a five-year jail term after another trial in Pittsburgh Federal Court. An appeal in this case is pending.

His conviction was under the state law in the Allegheny County Court of Quarter Sessions and resulted in a $10,000 fine and a 20-year prison sentence. The conviction was upheld by the Superior Court before the state Supreme Court reversed it.

Besides Pennsylvania, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, other states seeking a Supreme Court ruling in the Nelson case are Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

Connie Mack IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—You can talk about the end of an era as the Philadelphia Athletics move to Kansas City, but actually it is the end of a man who lived to become a legend.

That would be a tall, spare, silver-haired gentleman named Connie Mack. A man better known to all, possibly, as Connie Mack.

This, you can be sure, was not his doing.

Because Connie Mack lived, in the almost transparent shell which has become his once robust body, with just one idea in mind. He voiced it often: "To win just one more pennant in Philadelphia."

It was a cause with him. And one which kept his pulse beating steadily despite the fact that in December he will be 92 years old. Even in an age when science and medicine have made magic strides, that is a long trip down the turnpike. It made him one of the elders of the sports world, along with such revered deacons as Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Pop Warner and Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Was Baseball Pioneer

He had taken over at Philadelphia when organized baseball was in its infancy, a wiry, energetic young man out of a shoe factory in East Brookfield, Mass. That was in 1901 and you don't have to be a mathematician to figure it spans more than a half century.

Connie had his big days, plenty of them. Under his guidance the Athletics became one of the titans of baseball. Waving his scorecard, a trait which became a trademark, he piloted them to nine American league pennants. And on the way he had his share of great players — Nap Lajoie, Jimmy Fox, Al Simmons, Lefty Grove, Rube Waddell, Eddie Collins, Home Run Baker, Chief Bender, Mickey Cochran, Jimmy Dykes and many more.

In the days before World War I Connie rode the crest with six pennant winners. Then, more than a decade later, he brought his beloved Athletics back to the top again with three straight pennant winners from 1929 through 1931.

Lean Years Follow

Then came the lean years. Yet always, as you sat with him in his tower office in Shibe Park, you had to admire the erectness which defied the years and the bright, intense desire to win "just one more."

Even in the late 30s, a mere lad in his 70s, he grasped eagerly at a "rebuilding" attempt when he beat the other clubs to a promising infielder named Benny McCoy. Benny didn't prove to be the real McCoy, but Connie still kept hoping against hope.

Until he finished eighth in 1950. Then Connie stepped down—and put Dykes, one of his "boys," into that well-worn seat in the dugout. But Connie stayed with the club. He wanted a finger in it when the As finally won that one more pennant of which he dreamed.

The Connie Mack of the old days would, somehow, have kept the As in Philadelphia. But the younger Macks—sons Roy and Earle—didn't have his dedication or his genius. So now the team is gone and, for Connie, the dream is, too.

Stonefort Grade School Five Has 12-Game Schedule

Stonefort's grade school Indians are eagerly awaiting the opening of the 1954-55 basketball season, for indications point toward a great year for the club. Reports from the Indians' wigwag state that the team will be big, rugged and experienced with an abundance of ability and aggressiveness.

Members of the B division of the Little Egyptian conference, the Indians will play a 12-game schedule, all conference tilts. One of the top contests is slated for Nov. 5 when Freeman Spur invades Stonefort for the homecoming.

Four returning veterans from last year's first five will form the nucleus of this year's quintet. The Indians will once again be led by Capt. Bob Mitchell, towering center. Mitchell had a fine season in 1953-54, scoring just under 300 points. Charles and Bill Smith are two other polished performers returning to the lineup, and Mike O'Keefe is the fourth veteran. O'Keefe is an excellent rebounder and defensive player, and the Smith boys are good shots and steady, dependable offensive men.

The fifth slot will probably be filled by William Craig, a reserve last year.

The schedule for 1954-55 is as follows:
Oct. 29—East Beaver Pond, home
Nov. 5—Freeman Spur, home
Nov. 9—Colp, home
Nov. 12—Freeman Spur, away
Nov. 19—Chittyville, away
Nov. 23—East Beaver Pond, away

Nov. 29—Chittyville, home
Dec. 3—Cambria, home
Dec. 7—Cambria, away
Dec. 10—Paulton, away
Jan. 4—Paulton, home
Jan. 7—Colp, away

Once Beaten Eldorado Will Be Host To Once Defeated Carmi Friday

Eldorado and Carmi, each boasting a winning record of three victories in four starts this season, will clash on the Eagle field Friday. Kickoff time is 7:30 p. m.

Each team has suffered defeat at the hands of the powerful Benton Rangers and by comparing scores Carmi appears the stronger.

Benton edged Carmi 12-7 in the opener for both schools back on Sept. 17. Just last Friday at Benton Eldorado took its first loss of the year, 32-6.

Since losing to Benton Carmi has won from Lawrenceville 13-0, defeated Johnston City 26-6 and romped past Albion 54-6.

The Carmi scoring machine was running in high gear last Friday night in the 54-6 win over Albion—the team that had won from Mt. Vernon only a week earlier.

Strong Running Attack

Carmi's left half Don Williams scooted 55 yards on the second play of the game for the first TD and he added another in the second quarter.

Louie Mitchell, a halfback, scored four TDs on runs of 18, 16 and 11 yards and on a 42-yard return on an intercepted pass.

Mitchell finished the game with 167 yards gained in 17 tries and his running mate, Williams, gained 80 yards in eight attempts.

Other Carmi TDs were scored by quarterback Walter and a replacement, halfback Fernandes. Along with the strong running attack, Carmi also came up with an adequate aerial game, completing five passes in twelve attempts.

The attack was steady — with two TDs coming in each of the four quarters.

Mitchell, a fine performer with the undefeated Carmi team of 1953, has been outstanding in all four games his team has played this year. In the four contests he has carried for 548 yards, with a rushing average of 7 yards per try. He has scored 46 points.

Eldorado Strong

Eldorado also has displayed a good running game this season with three backs showing ability to carry the ball. Gwaltney, Sutton and Potts, taking handoffs from quarterback Clark are a dangerous trio of ball carriers.

Fans who have seen both Carmi and Eldorado in action discuss the game as a standoff.

Carmi has played a strong game for four games and Eldorado has also looked fine with the possible exception of the final two quarters against Benton when the big Ranger line wore down their lighter opponents.

It shapes up as a fine ball game.

Douglas Defends Gov't Actions To Aid People

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said today that "what is good for the people is ultimately good for business, including General Motors."

Douglas' remark was an apparent jibe at Defense Secretary Charles Wilson, who was once quoted as saying "What is good for General Motors is good for the country."

Douglas spoke at a meeting of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

He defended government action in such fields as social security, wages and hours and farm price supports as benefiting the people and ultimately business.

"The hardships being experienced in southern Illinois and some industrial centers would be 10 times worse were it not for unemployment compensation, social security and old age pensions, farm price supports and other similar measures designed to help the worker and farmer," Douglas said.

These measures are "not socialist as some have claimed," he said.

"President Eisenhower favors these constructive programs as do many businessmen," Douglas said. "Unfortunately a lot of lobbyists make a good living selling business programs for the people are bad for them."

Douglas said it "is to the fundamental advantage of business that wage earners, white collar workers, farmers and professional men should have relatively high incomes and be secure from the ravages of unemployment, inflation, sickness and poverty."

Indict Two Firms For Fraud on Gov't Contracts

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—A federal grand jury has indicted two companies and their presidents on charges of defrauding the government of $50,000 by padding expenses on defense contract jobs.

Named in the eight count indictment returned Wednesday night were the Production Engineering and Manufacturing Co., Pagedale, Mo., its president, Charles G. Emerling, the Contractor Sales and Engineering Co., also of Pagedale, and its president, John Mason Wilson.

The alleged padding was done on cost-plus contracts totaling 1 1/2 million dollars for production of 60 mm. mortar shells, Asst. U. S. Atty. Forrest Booker said.

The indictment charged that Emerling and Wilson, acting for their companies, induced four subcontractors to employ contractor sales for "purported services" which were unneeded.

The indictment said the subcontractors' payments to contractor sales were included in the ultimate cost of the shells paid by Army Ordnance. Emerling's firm was the prime contractor for the jobs. The alleged offenses began about Aug. 21, 1950, the indictment said.

Democrats Hail Landslide Win in Alaska

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Democratic hopes of capturing Congress in the Nov. 2 election surged higher today as the rout of Republicans in the Alaska territorial contest took on landslide proportions.

Democrats said their party's sweep in Alaska Tuesday presaged a thumping Democratic victory in next month's congressional contest. But Republicans pooh-poohed the Democratic theme as "As goes Alaska, so goes the nation."

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (Ohio), chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said the Alaska election points "to an overwhelming Democratic victory in November."

In the past, he said, the political fortunes of the Republican and Democratic parties in the United States have closely followed results of the Alaska House of Representatives contest. Late returns indicated Democrats had won 22 of the 24 House seats, reversing a similar GOP sweep of two years ago.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall insisted "no inference can be drawn" from the Alaskan results. Issues in the territory, he said, "had nothing to do with our congressional campaign."

Sally Rand Lists $2 Million Liabilities

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U.P.)—A whopping $2,047,380.15 in liabilities was listed today in a petition for bankruptcy filed by fan dancer Sally Rand in Las Vegas Federal Court. The dancer listed among her assets four fans worth $25 each.

Her attorney, Dave Zenoff, said most of the liabilities were the result of a two-million-dollar action against her in the East growing out of a corporation dispute.

"Room For One More," a comedy play written by William Davidson and dramatized from the book by Anna Perrott Rose Wright, has been selected as the 1954 Junior play to be presented Friday, Nov. 12, at 8 p. m. in Bonnell gym. The cast for the play has recently been selected by Mrs. Lolo Edy, HTHS dramatics director, and includes the following students: Dawan Martin, Ted Price, Nancy Fulkerson, Norma Butler, Judy Farrar, Dorothy Hanning, Sharmaine Rice, Bill Cole, Patsy Foster, Jane Lasersohn, Richard Childress, and Dorothy Winkleman. Although "Room For One More" is a relatively new play, it proved to be very popular and successful last year being presented by 23 Thespian troupes. A movie was also made being adapted from the family in the play. This is the class that presented "Meet Me in St. Louis" last year. An annual snowfall of 50 to 60 feet is not uncommon in Oregon's Crater Lake national park.

Program for Teachers' Meeting Friday

Schools will be dismissed throughout the county tomorrow for the annual fall Saline County Teachers institute to be held at the Harrisburg Junior high school.

Speakers will be Dr. Richard Struna, who spent two years behind Russia's Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia, and Rear Admiral Benton W. Decker (U. S. Navy Retired), recently back from the Far East.

The complete institute program as announced by R. Dale Wilson, county superintendent of schools:

9 a. m.—Group singing led by John Schork, member of Harrisburg Township high school faculty.

Presentation of Colors and Pledge of Allegiance by Girl Scout Group led by Mrs. John Dameron.

Invocation by Milton Cox, member of Eldorado Township high school faculty.

9:15 a. m.—Address by Dr. Struna, "Two Years Behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia."

10 a. m.—Announcements.

10:15 a. m.—Intermission.

10:30 a. m.—Address by Rear Admiral Decker, "What I Saw and Learned in the Far East."

Noon intermission.

1:30 p. m.—Group singing led by Mr. Schork.

1:45 p. m.—Address by Dr. Struna, "What America Means to Me."

2:30 p. m.—Announcements.

If you look closely at the label on your box of dry milk, you'll find that you can whip it like cream with an electric mixer. A budget-minded topping for desserts.

Overrule Proposed Star Route Changes From Eldorado

Proposed changes in star route mail delivery out of Eldorado have been overruled following a survey of the situation, it has been announced.

Several weeks ago announcement was made of the proposed change, to become effective next summer. At present there are two round trip star route deliveries from McLeansboro to Eldorado and two from Eldorado into Gallatin county daily. The route in Gallatin county is Equality, Junction, Shawneetown, back to Junction, to Ridgway and back to Equality, then return to Eldorado.

The proposed change would have reduced the daily trips to one, to leave McLeansboro in the early morning, then from Eldorado to Gallatin county after the arrival in Eldorado of the southbound New York Central. A return trip would have been made in the afternoon.

When the proposed changes became known many business and professional persons, along with others, requested an investigation be made.

The investigation has been completed and postal authorities have announced no changes in the present service will be made.

Woman is Killed

AVON, Ill. (UP) — Mrs. Faye Gossage, 39, Avon, a widow, was killed instantly today when her car was hit by a CB&Q railroad freight train at a crossing here.

Her body was thrown 76 feet from the car.

She is survived by two daughters and her mother.

Vogeler to Speak At Meek Meeting at Carbondale Oct. 25

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Robert Vogeler, American businessman who spent 18 months in a Communist prison in Hungary on espionage charges, will give an address here Oct. 25, it was announced today.

Vogeler is making a series of six appearances this fall in behalf of Republican senatorial candidate Joseph Meek. His talk at Southern Illinois University's Shryock auditorium will be sponsored by the Jackson County Republican headquarters.

State Sen. R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro, said Jackson county GOP candidates for the state legislature and Rep. C. W. (Runt) Bishop are expected to share the platform with Vogeler at the 7:30 p. m. meeting.

An assistant vice-president of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., Vogeler was arrested while on a business trip to Budapest in November, 1949, and sentenced to 15 years in prison on trumped up spy charges. The persistent efforts of his Belgian wife and the intervention of the U. S. State Department won his release, however, after 18 months.

Sen. Crisenberry said it was not known whether Vogeler's wife would accompany him to Carbondale. Vogeler will come here by train from Chicago and will probably return there immediately after his address.

Army Develops Recoilless Rifle To Combat Tanks

WASHINGTON — The Army has developed a powerful new recoilless rifle which it said will enable infantrymen to "defeat any tank in the world today."

Called the Bat (for battalion anti-tank), the new lightweight, 106 mm. gun has double the penetrating power and more than double the effective range of any individual anti-tank weapon now available to the infantryman.

Southern Illinois University prepared an elaborate exhibit for the World Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893.

Mrs. Loren Butler Installs Officers of Pauline Moore Circle
The Pauline Moore circle of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Junior Sowers Tuesday evening for the royal service program and installation of new officers.

Mrs. Loren Butler was in charge of a lovely and most impressive candlelight installation service. Mrs. D. H. Hiller presided at the organ. New officers for the year are as follows: President, Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler; vice president, Mrs. Junior Sowers; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pat Gilley; program chairman, Mrs. Charles Swansey; mission study, Miss Barbara Pearlheley; stewardship, Mrs. Calvin Sutton; social and young people's chairman, Miss Elizabeth Pankey; community mission chairmen, Mrs. Glen Gibbs and Miss Marcustine Miller. The devotion was given by Mrs. Hiller who read from Isaiah 40:3 and Matthew 3:3. The theme for the new year is "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord," and the program for the October meeting was "Make Straight a Highway for Our God." Topics were given by Mrs. Gilley, Mrs. Donald Boyd, Miss Pankey and Mrs. Donald Hughes.

Miss Pearlheley ably presented the chapter "Agnes Watt" from the mission book "Dauntless Women."

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Juan Ponce de Leon was the famous seeker for the Fountain of Youth.

Union Grove Home Bureau Has Lesson on Meat Garnishes
The Union Grove Home Bureau unit met at the home of Mrs. Noble Williams recently for the October meeting.

Mrs. James Bond displayed a tray of meat garnishes as a part of the lesson on "Garnishes for Meat." The home adviser, Mrs. Harry Harper, gave an interesting lesson on "Use of New Food Products."

The Handicraft club again made plans to resume its craft work after the summer dismissal.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Byford Reynolds, Louie Fowler, Henry Clark, James Bond, Kenneth Martin, Willard Arnold, John Waladis, Sally Ledford, Charles Conwell, Mary Phelps, Wiley Ryan, Otis Stone, Noel Bond, S. C. Bond, Earl Rapp, R. L. Morris, and the home adviser, Mrs. Harper.

The Bourlands invite all their friends to call at their home Sunday afternoon.

Luther Bourlands to Observe 50th Anniversary with Open House
Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bourland will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their country home on Broughton Road, Eldorado, with open house Sunday afternoon from 2 till 5 o'clock.

Mr. Bourland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Berry Bourland of Cottage Grove, and Miss Myrtle Karnes, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George B. Karnes, of Eldorado, were married on Oct. 21, 1904 in Harrisburg. They established their home in Eldorado, where Mr. Bourland has been engaged in the carpenter trade and for many years was a leading contractor and builder. He is 70 years old and Mrs. Bourland is 69.

They have one daughter, Miss Dorothy Bourland, who is an employee of the Harrisburg National bank.

The Bourlands invite all their friends to call at their home Sunday afternoon.

Miss Gladys Gaskins Hostess To Presbyterian Lenore Circle
Miss Gladys Gaskins, assisted by Miss Jean Selby, was hostess Monday evening to the Lenore circle of the Presbyterian church. The group met in the lower rooms of the church.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Stella Brashears who was ill, Miss Mary Morrison presided.

Mrs. Mildred Boicourt gave the year book of prayer devotion, closing with prayer. Mrs. Ownly Furman was in charge of the program for the evening, using the theme "Christ Calls Us to Witness as We Teach." She presented Mrs. Wayne Dixon, Mrs. Byford Wiley and Mrs. Boicourt who told real life stories of outstanding examples of the work of the missionaries and mission schools in Thailand, the Punjab in India and Cuba. Mrs. Boicourt was pianist for the duet by Miss Juanita Joyner and Mrs. Steve Farrar and group singing.

During the business meeting members were reminded of the church stewardship dinner Wednesday evening and all members were urged to be present to help serve the dinner. It was also voted to send to Kemmerer Home at Assumption some articles needed by the children in the home.

New officers to take office January 1 were elected.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments of spiced tea and homemade cake to the 11 members present and Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Wiley, guests.

Mrs. Furman invited the circle to hold its next meeting, Oct. 25, with her.

District 13 B. & P. W. Clubs Meet In McLeansboro
The Business and Professional Women's clubs of District 13 met in the cafeteria of the McLeansboro high school Monday evening in observance of the 27th National Business Women's Week.

A two course dinner was served on tables beautifully decorated with center pieces of fall flowers.

The Club Collect was read by Miss Esther Kallenbach, Carmi, chairman of the 13th district.

Mrs. Ella K. Mosley, who has been chosen as the Illinois Mother of the Year and who is a member of the Metropolis B. & P. W. club, was guest speaker for the evening, her subject being "Women—Our Place in the Sun." Her talk was quite interesting and informative as she related the different women in history and their accomplishments. She stressed the fact that each B. and P. W. member had a "place in the sun."

Members of the local club attending were Mrs. Marie Cooley, Mrs. Edna Lewis, Mrs. Anna-belle Melton, Mrs. Nelle Meyers, Mrs. Geneva Mitchell, Mrs. Zola Sloan, Mrs. Harriett Land, Mrs. Mary Lois Bynum, Misses Irene Beasley, Iris Crages, Meriam Evans, Jeanette James, Elizabeth Myrna, Mary Price, Mary Richardson and Ruby Thomas, Mrs. Carrie Young and Miss Bess Pemberton were guests.

Clubs comprising district 13 are Harrisburg, Carmi, McLeansboro and Fairfield.

The theme for National Business Women's Week is "Adventure in Achievement" which is especially applicable to Harrisburg where women of the local club are employed in a business.

The Carlson house had been started during the past period when everyone in Colorado who had a few hundred thousand dollars to throw away had started building castles in the mountains. With the old part of the house as a firm bulwark, newer additions straggled down toward the lake and small bathhouse beyond.

The winding road led to a carport before the newest part of the house. Mrs. Hilton came up while Jim and Nancy were getting out with their overnight bags.

"Where's the other woman?" Mrs. Hilton demanded.

"What other woman?" Jim asked.

"The other woman I saw yesterday," Mrs. Hilton snapped. "Dressed in black, dressed—"

She stopped abruptly and looked at Nancy again. She said, "That was you?"

Jim put in, "Distances make things deceptive. Or is it that things are distorted through binoculars?"

The complacency vanished. She said harshly, "Come on then, you women. I'll show you rooms."

Nancy, Mrs. Kit and Mrs. Gelstrap followed dutifully. Agnes and Jim remained with Philip Stoneman.

"Mrs. Oswald will see you," Philip said. He paused long enough to look at his expensive wrist watch. "In exactly 28 minutes."

In her studio.

"We'll talk to you first then," Agnes said. "Come on, Mr. Dunn. You might as well listen. I want you to hear this."

They went to a small sunroom. Philip said, "Sit down." He took one of the straight chairs, Jim another. Agnes Argyle was confronted with a problem. She finally solved it, but she did not look at home in the contour chair.

Philip plugged in a gleaming silver percolator, left it and returned to his chair. "I've been thinking since you called, Agnes," he said. "I've talked to Mrs. Oswald too, of course. I guess I can really help you establish the fact that this was an accident. As far as all of us are concerned."

Jim noticed the use of her first name, and apparent terms of intimacy between Stoneman and the sheriff.

"We had a real party here last night," Philip explained. "The party didn't break up until the early hours, as the phrase has it. Almost daylight, in fact, before the carloads of guests and the servants pulled out for Denver."

"Go on," Agnes prodded.

"It'd help if you'd tell me about the time Angelica—died."

"Between five and six," Agnes said promptly.

Jim felt his eyebrows going up. He thought that was a little too much cooperation between an officer of the law and the questioner.

Philip nodded. "That makes it even easier. The party didn't break up until five. And of course, there were the usual last-minute delays. The 'one for the road.' Say 5:30 by the time everyone was off. Agnes, you know how long it'd take anyone to walk around to The Spikes. So—I guess that lets us all out."

"Why walk?" Jim asked.

Philip smiled broadly. "There's my chum," he said. "I wondered if the cat had your tongue. I said walk, because that would have been the only way. You see, all the cars were gone, whooping it off filled with drunken guests in the care of the servants who could still see out of one eye. No cars here at all after 5:30, chum."

"We can check that," Agnes repeated. "But even so the round trip couldn't have been made by car. Not in the short time before breakfast."

Jim must have showed his bewilderment, because Philip chuckled. "If you're around here long enough, chum, you'll find we have only one inflexible rule, the one and only rule, made up at the moment to meet the situation. Mrs. Oswald makes decrees and backs them up by saying, 'It's always been my rule to do so and so.' Catch, chum? Breakfast at seven sharp is the present rule and has been all this summer. So this morning of course could not be an exception. We breakfasted at seven. How well I know! It was up to me to get it, and I barely had time for a shower and a change of clothes before I had to start my culinary masterpiece. Shrimp, chow mein and scrambled eggs."

"How about the boat?" Dunn demanded.

Philip shook his head. "The boat wasn't used. I'll show you why I know. And, before you bring it up, I'll admit it isn't too far to swim if a person would keep close to that sheer cliff that separates these two places. Maybe three or four blocks. But you just try it, chum. That water's ice, pure ice. The lake is deep and the water always cold. No, I don't think you can consider swimming seriously, chum."

Philip then led Jim and Agnes outside, along the path to the small bathhouse.

The smell of paint and varnish had warned Jim what to expect. Nevertheless he touched a finger to various spots on the boat and the oars. The varnish was nearly dry, but still tacky. The paint on the oars was still wetter, left a red stain on his finger. Dunn noticed a small smear on one of the oars as if someone else had tested the dryness of the paint.

Remarkable New Dairy Product!

Topic Whips Like Cream

yet costs less than 1/2 as much as milk!

WHIPS AT ROOM TEMPERATURE! Even with a hand beater, Topic whips quickly and easily—actually faster than whipping cream. And whipping chilled Topic is speedier yet!

SETS NEW STANDARDS FOR PRODUCTS OF ITS KIND! Topic is rich, whole milk from nearby selected dairy herds. Only the butter fats are removed. Pure vegetable oils, plus Vitamins A and D, are added to the natural milk minerals, proteins and calcium. It is then homogenized and pasteurized, just the way milk is.

LOOKS AND TASTES LIKE CREAM! Topic is the vitamin-enriched Filled Milk developed by dairy scientists to do most everything milk or cream can do. Use Topic to "cream" your coffee and enrich your cooking—it's the modern way to nourish your family, and reduce your milk bill, too!

All this from one can of Topic!

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Watch out for those so-called "minor" traffic violations that may seem so unimportant at the time, but which traffic safety experts believe account for about 80 per cent of accidents.

They include such things as failing to give the proper hand and arm signal when you are going to turn, going just a little bit faster than the speed limit, straddling traffic lanes, starting across an intersection before the light turns green, turning from the wrong lane, and so on.

If you were the only driver on the street, those "minor" violations wouldn't be so important. But there are other drivers on the street most of the time, even though some of them seem blissfully unaware of it, and to keep out of trouble, you have to take them into consideration.

It's very much like that old saying about watching the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves. Don't let yourself make those "minor" violations, and you will find you are also avoiding the major ones.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

NLRB to Order Secret Vote at Two A-Plants

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Summer White House announced today that the National Labor Relations Board will order a secret vote among employees of the atomic energy plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., on whether to accept a final wage offer by the management of Union Carbide and Carbon Corp., which operates these AEC units. The employees are represented by the CIO United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers.

Concerning the labor dispute in the Tennessee and Kentucky atomic plants, the President made public a report by a special board of inquiry set up under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The board reported that the union rejected a "final" offer of a six-cent-an-hour wage increase retroactive to July 12 and an additional five-cent increase starting next Jan. 15.

The 80-day "cooling off" period provided by the Taft-Hartley Act in this particular case expires Oct. 31. According to the White House, before that date the NLRB will order a secret election of Oak Ridge and Paducah employees — about 4,000 at Oak Ridge and more than 700 at Paducah — to pass on the company's final offer.
